Poor Tuffy!

He was a six-months old pup, round and fat and happy.

His pedigree was indeterminate but wire-haired terrier predominated.

His coat was white setting off in charming contrast his big black eyes and black nose.

As little as Tuffy was, he had one heinous crime on his otherwise spotless record.

He had killed a chicken.

But he had accepted his scolding like a little gentleman and with sad eyes vowed a mute promise to do it no more.

Sunday Tuffy went out to play.

He galloped around his yard full of the joy and pep that every puppy has in such quantities.

His adoring mistress failed to watch him for a few moments.

A little while later she came to the back door.

Tuffy lay inert on the back porch where he had fallen in a valiant effort to reach the house.

His eyes were glazing and his little tummy twitched.

A last convulsion and he was still forever.

He had been poisoned.

A most horrible and repulsive form of human life is the dog poisoner.

His only act of mercy for little Tuffy was the quick poison which he administered to the trusting little pup.

There are easier ways of death for a dog—gas or gunshot.

But probably the Creator devised a special Hades for the dog poisoner.

LARGE PROJECT SEEN BACK OF S. O. PURCHASE

Behind an application presented to the city council Monday evening by the Standard Oil company, is possibly a large project that may mean much to Richmond in the future.

The amount of land required is six-tenths of an acre and the company offered to pay $120, which would be at a valuation of $200 per acre.

For the past several weeks, a company of surveyors has been at work in the upper end of the county making surveys and the rumor has been, that they are representing the Standard Oil company.

The rumor current is that the right of way now being sought from the council is only one link, in a new vast project that the corporation has laid out that will in the expenditure of a vast sum of money and the employment of much labor.

The proposed new pipe line, it is understood, will be for gas, and the power line will carry power that is to be generated in the Kettleman hills district.

It is claimed, that with the vast amount of natural gas in that section, that power can be generated for far less than is being done at the present time by water.

O'Connell Kidnaping Unsettled

ALBANY, N. Y., July 11.—UP.—Kidnapers who brazenly ventured into the ranks of one of the most powerful political cliques in the east for the victim, continued tonight to hold handsome young John J. O'Connell, Jr., for $250,000 ransom.

They considered acceptability of new prospective intermediaries. Meanwhile the kidnaped youth—son of one of the three O'Connell brothers who fashioned a political machine as powerful in its sphere as Tammany Hall in New York City—was reported by his abductors as well and unharmed.

More Letters
The information was offered in the third of a series of letters to the family. The letters revealed willingness of the kidnapers to "do business."

However, the abductors arbitrarily rejected as "unsatisfactory" the list of eleven intermediaries offered by the O'Connells in a coded advertisement in the Sunday Knickerbocker Press and instructed that a "more acceptable" list be published.

Daniel O'Connell, head of the clan whose practice it had been in the past to give orders, unhesitatingly capitulated to the new demand and written an hour after the letter had been received the new list appeared in print in an afternoon newspaper.

Quiet Session Held Yesterday By High Board

Richmond's high school board of trustees reverted to pre-election methods yesterday, holding a short, quiet meeting in the office of Superintendent Walter T. Helms at the Lincoln school.

Among the items of most importance taken up in the routine of business was the adoption of a motion that in hiring teachers for the night school local unemployed people be given first consideration when qualified.

The state report on the architectural status of the Roosevelt junior high school failed to show up, leaving the board still out on a limb regarding the alteration and repair of the school prior to the taken up of classes in August.

Superintendent Helms told the board that in the event the repair work was not completed before school convened again, it would be necessary to act under emergency measures and place the students elsewhere throughout the city.

Helms stated, however, that he had a plan in mind that would take care of the problem satisfactorily.

Helms reported to the board that he had arranged through bids for the purchase of all supplies needed at the various schools for the coming terms. The purchases will be given to the lowest bidders, all of whom are Richmond merchants.

"Aubrey Wilson and Ira E. Scott were appointed as a committee to consult with H. F. Lods, school mechanic, regarding cheaper rates on keeping the school busses in repair.

Bids on painting the window sashes at the high school will be received by the board on July 17.

Regular meetings in future will be held on the second Tuesday of each month. The board, since election, has been meeting twice monthly.

A coming rise of one cent a quart in milk prices is indicated in the announcement of a distributors and producers meeting in Berkeley Thursday.

A new milk distribution code incorporated in the agricultural adjustment act will be discussed at the meeting which will be in the Giannini hall on the U. C. campus.

Attorney T. M. Woodward, legal expert of the Department of Agriculture, will preside.

The Thursday meeting is for the Oakland and East Bay district and on Friday the San Francisco district will convene.

City Official Shoots Deputy Who Testified

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 11.—UP.—City Controller Louis Kotecki, under indictment on charges of malfeasance in office, shot his deputy William Wendt late today and then shot himself. Wendt had testified before the Grand Jury that indicted Kotecki.

Both men were wounded critically. The charges against Kotecki were the outgrowth of an investigation into the city treasurer's office that led to indictment of that official.

It was contended by prosecuting attorneys that Kotecki as city controller should have been aware of and reported the alleged discrepancies in the treasurer's office.

REFUSAL TO TALK JAILS 2 FILIPINOS

MARTINEZ, July 11.—UP.—A prosecution witness in the trial of seven Filipinos charged with murdering the publisher of the Manila Free Press, today was sentenced to jail.

Mrs. Eugenia Faller, 20, must serve 100 days in jail or pay $100 fine. Superior Judge Thomas Johnston decreed in Manila; her guilty of contempt of court.

Pastora Santellan, of Put-put, Cal., another state subpoenaed witness, was also found guilty of contempt when he refused to testify. He will be sentenced at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Stabbing Witnesses
Each stabber witness faced their refusal on the assertion that they might incriminate themselves. District Attorney James Holy virtually promised immunity through court action, but their attitude was unchanged.

Increasing rumors among the throng of Filipinos here for the trial, however, indicated the witnesses feared for their lives.

To Seek Writ
Defense Attorney Wilbur Pierce himself threatened with contempt action by Judge Johnston, announced that he would file a petition in appellate court at San Francisco.

Hull to Stay
Hull indicated he was not making any plans to return to Washington before August. He also revealed that the Anglo-American war debt talks would therefore be deferred until September, at the earliest.

The steering committee of the economic conference held a ten minute meeting today and approved a formula submitted by the drafting commission of the monetary subcommittee under which the latter body may continue its deliberations.

The formula was regarded as a complete victory for the gold bloc nations, led by France, because it effectively bars discussion of any subjects to which they object. They were forced to grant one concession, however, namely, the agreement to discuss cooperation among the central banks.

This cooperation, broadly speaking, involves gold standard reforms. The question of silver also will come up in the bankers' discussions.

Rep. S. D. McReynolds of Tennessee, a member of the United States delegation, plans tomorrow to introduce a resolution drafted by James Wilson of the American Federation of Labor, calling for worldwide reduction of working hours. The plan coincides with President Roosevelt's domestic policy, he said.

LAKE ARROWHEAD ROAD

HALIFAX, N. S., July 11.—UP.—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh brought their red low-winged monoplane down here at 5:45 p. m. EDT, completing the second leg of their aerial survey flight from New York to Greenland and Iceland.

The flying couple, surveying the possibility of regular trans-Atlantic air travel over the northern route, made a perfect landing in the pontoon-equipped ship on Halifax harbor.

After sliding down on the harbor water, Lindbergh taxied his plane to the Royal Canadian mounted police seaplane base in the eastern passage, where he and Mrs. Lindbergh stepped ashore.

They had covered the approximately 325 miles from North Haven, He., in two hours and 33 minutes.

While in the air, Mrs. Lindbergh the plane's radio operator, had messaged at 5:20 p. m. EDT, "will arrive Halifax, N. S., in twenty minutes all OK."

They exceeded their estimated speed and alighted five minutes earlier.

Before leaving North Haven, summer home of Mrs. Dwight Morrow Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, the couple had said farewell to their 11 months old son, Jon, who was on the island with his two grandmothers, Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh.

The Lindberghs started from Col. lege Point, N. Y., Sunday.

'Children of Science'

HOW SCIENCE gave her three children, although she had never been a wife to their father, was revealed in surprising court testimony in Los Angeles recently. Mrs. Mate Hommel, pictured above with two of her "scientific children," Gail, 13, left, and Jane, 15, suing her second husband, Dr. Wesley J. Hommel, for division of community property, told the court that a Raphael Corcoran was the father of her children through scientific practice accomplished by a Detroit doctor.

DETROIT, July 11.—UP.—A "Raphael Corcoran" who is credited with being the "scientific father" of the three daughters of the late Shelley Hommel of Los Angeles was believed located here today.

But he is quite up in arms over the idea.

Corcoran, the only one by the alleged father's name in the city, is head of an accident claim company here. And he is furious over the whole affair, branding artificial parenthood as "absurd and ridiculous."

"I will have a formal statement to make very shortly and what I have to say will be more than a statement. It will be backed up with documentary proof."

"Because of the innocent parties involved, I have hesitated to say anything. But now they are forcing the issue on me. I have never met Dr. Brudenbach, or his assistant, Dr. Dunwoody, nor have I ever been in their office."

Mrs. Hommel's story of the "scientific father" has been corroborated by Dr. L. R. Brudenbach of Detroit, who said he is familiar with the case and its facts.

Dr. John F. Dunwoody, who attended Mrs. Hommel, was his assistant and died in 1919.

"It's ridiculous to think of me as a 'scientific father' or whatever you want to call it," Corcoran said. "Further facts will come out and when I do decide to talk I will have plenty to say."

DETROIT, July 11.—UP.—Governor William H. Murray stepped dramatically into Oklahoma's impending beer invasion tonight with an order to the militia to guard 100 freight carsloads of 3.2 beer here against unloading until he has officially proclaimed the result of today's election on legalization.

"We're going to collect the tax," declared the militant governor, and he brought his oft-used national guardsmen into use to prevent premature sales of beer. The order was issued to Adjutant General Charles E. Barrett.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 11.—UP.—Oklahoma voters emphatically declared themselves in favor of beer in the first statewide tabulation of today's special election.

United Press tabulations of the state's 313 precincts from scattered vicinities gave, for 2943, against, 1347.

The counties reporting included Oklahoma, Craig, Canadian, Kiowa and Cleveland.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 11.—UP.—United Press tabulations from 129 of the state's 313 precincts gave the following results tonight in Oklahoma's special beer election:

For beer 6779.
Against beer 5339.

The returns were from 21 counties and the precincts were mostly from rural districts.

CALIFORNIA HOPS
Still Grow Tall And in Long Rows

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—UP.—A warning by Lord Wolmer in London today that the world faces an acute shortage in hops brought an adverse opinion here from E. Clemens Horst, leader in the California hop industry.

"Imports from one country or another will meet the demand," said Horst.

"When one country runs short, another has an oversupply. The supply and demand balances fairly evenly most of the time. There are plenty of hops and there will be plenty of beer for everybody."

PLANE SINKS INTO VALLEY SWAMPLAND

FRESNO, July 11.—UP.—Donald McIntyre, 29, San Francisco transport pilot, was killed tonight when the Cardiff Peacock lines plane he was flying fell into a bog two miles southwest of Dos Palos, California.

No Passengers
The four-passenger ship carried no passengers, it was reported by airport attendants here.

The plane was buried in five feet of mud. One man who reached it, said McIntyre was dead.

Cause Unknown
No one reported knowledge of what caused the crash.

A United States department of commerce investigator was enroute to the scene.

MATTERN'S Flight Is Given Up

MOSCOW, July 11.—UP.—James Mattern, Texas flier, has abandoned hope of being the first pilot to circle the world alone and is willing to fly to Nome, Alaska, with a Russian aviator from Andadyr, northeastern Siberia, where he cracked up recently, advises from Khabarovsk indicated tonight.

Plot Levanovsky, of the Soviet air force, has been ordered to take Mattern to Alaska as soon as possible, officials revealed here. This action was taken on receipt of information that Mattern wants to proceed to Nome immediately and has given up hope of making world circling solo flight himself.

Later word from Khabarovsk revealed that Mattern was slightly injured when forced down on the marshland near Bering sea, June 14. Details, however, were not available.

Misinformation

Following a most pleasant evening romping around the office shadow boxing with several dozen mosquitoes, the staff of the RECORD-HERALD has decided to encourage the sport and each night hereafter will hold a public demonstration between 9 and 10 o'clock.

Boxing mosquitoes is really a most amusing and exhilarating recreation.

More fun is had when you let the little dearies sting you frequently. The tingling sensation adds greatly to the game, for it makes you just mad enough to put plenty of zest into your boxing.

The RECORD-HERALD staff prides itself on being exceptionally adept at smacking down the miniature humming birds, and guarantees a pleasant hour to any one who cares to visit the office and watch the demonstrations.

They are absolutely free, but you can bring your own mosquitoes if you desire.

NEW ORLEANS, July 11.—If ancient coats of arms were in style, the Sutter family of New Orleans would boast a shield emblazoned with tennis racquets—racquets which have dealt many a disappointment to aspiring champions and caused those at the top of the end of worry.

For the Sutter brothers, Clifford, Edward and Ernest, appear headed for international tennis honors.

Already they have accumulated notable records in this department, and judging from the pace they have set they'll be hard to stop.

Clifford played in the Wimbledon Singles Championships this year, the greatest of all tennis competitions.

Edward performed in the national collegiate doubles, and Ernest made fine showings in the Memphis Country club invitation tournament and the Southern championships at Atlanta.

The brothers range in age from 16 to 24, Clifford being the oldest, and better known. He won the Southern championship several times and ranks No. 3 in the nationals.

ORONITES WIN
A BALL GAME!

Oh boy, oh boy, oh boy! The cellar clubs aren't always to be despised. Last night the Oronites trounced the Stanavos club in the Standard Oil twilight league, 8 to 5, and the Oronites are in the cellar with the Zeros.

The game was a listless affair, just straight baseball with few thrills and no sensational plays or hits.

The Stanavos boys started off like a couple of grass fires, knocking Fitzgerald out of the box in one inning, but Arty Shimpit took the hill for the Oronites, and that made a different story.

Campbell did the chucking for the Stanavos outfit.

At a late hour tonight the fire was still burning near the Leona Heights rifle range of the National Guard.

The blaze started near the ranch of Alexander Harris, 6101 Leona street, presumably from a neglected camp fire.

Around the Sacks
With the Bushers

By CHARLES CLUM

Baseball followers and players sympathize with R. E. Eubanks, sponsor of the City Recreation team, during his hour of bereavement. Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Eubanks, mother of the Recreationists' sponsor, will be held at the Wilson and Wratzer chapel this afternoon at 3 a. m.

A distinct honor was bestowed upon the City Recreation team last Monday evening by the Northern California Baseball Managers Association (Oakland unit) when they were chosen as one of the six teams to fight it out with the Oakland Typewriters, Southern Pacific Stores, Robaks, Haffets, Silva's Grocery and Chapel of the Oaks for the championship of the Double A division tournament. There were nearly thirty teams entered in this high division and being chosen as one of the final contestants is highly pleasing to the many fans of the City Recreation nine.

It seems perplexing that more action cannot be taken concerning the construction of the clubhouse for Seawright field. At the present pace it is taking to get this needed building under way, it may be started after the baseball season is over. On many occasions visiting teams have refused to journey to Seawright field to play a contest because after the game they delight in taking a shower and place as much importance upon taking a shower after the game as they do playing a game of baseball.

An attraction billed at the Fox theater for Saturday in which they feature Joe E. Brown in "Elmer the Great" will cause a lot of amusement among baseball fans as the story centers upon a player who goes to the "big top" with the idea that making good is a cinch for a great player or such as he, "Elmer the Great" has a cast composed of a lot of professional players and is well worth seeing.

Plans are under way to bolster the infield of the Richmond Odd Fellows. It is not known whether the shakeup will be made by Novascone this Sunday or whether he will wait until the return of Manager Brown who is on a well earned vacation.

MORE LAND FOR SKYLINE IS OFFERED

OAKLAND, July 11.—Eventual construction of a new extension to the Skyline boulevard from the Redwood Road to a point near Lake Chabot, was made possible today by the offer of a right-of-way to the city.

Upper left, nautical pajamas in navy and white jersey with cotton bag and scarf to match. Feed bags for human food and not rubber horses are popular. Top center, pleated model is of silk crepe with high-fied scarf. Next, shirtwaist style pajamas in a very tailored model. The beach coat lower left is of bleached Venetian sails in rose with bag and fastenings of rope. The polka dot play suit with hat to match whose brim is removable, features an adjustable neckline. White crinkled rubber makes the suit at bottom right.

COOLING DRINKS FOR HOT DAYS

By JUDITH WILSON

I DON'T know why it is but the sight of green things and the sound of tinkling ice are cooling long before you have a taste of the chilly drink or a taste of the crisp salad or dessert that they suggest, but they do. When you buy your beverage set and salad plates for warm afternoon refreshments, do get them in cool tones of green or yellow-green, and do keep on hand sprigs of fragrant green mint for garnishing.

Is there anything new in the way of cooling beverages? Of course, just try the sparkling fruit punch in the first menu. Mix three pints of cold tea with the juice of three lemons and two cups of stewed rhubarb juice and enough strong sugar syrup to sweeten. Mix thoroughly and chill for one hour before using. Place ice cubes in a punch bowl and pour the punch over them. Add a quart of carbonated lemon beverage and garnish with very thin slices of oranges and lemons. If you wish, maraschino cherries may be sliced and added.

Cooling Lime Drink

Limes are another suggestion for giving beverages the desired coolness both in their color and delightful flavor. Squeeze two or three and add the juice to a pitcher of plain lemonade along with one thinly sliced lime. You will need a little more sugar since limes have an expectant tartness. Add plenty of ice and you will have a drink that will conquer any thirst.

Iced Tea Always Good

Iced tea is always a safe bet, too, but the way it is made by experts is to use strong, freshly made tea and pour it while hot over the ice cubes. Serve it with sugar crystals, slices of lemon and sprigs of mint. And here is a mint julep without, we admit, the kick of the traditional Southern variety. Boil one cup of sugar with one-half cup of water and the grated rind of a lemon for three minutes. Then add one cup of ice water and the juice of six lemons. Crush several sprigs of fresh mint and add to the lemon syrup. Serve with shaved ice in glasses with thin slices of lemon and sprigs of mint for decoration.

Frozen Fruits

Almost any combination of frozen fruits are pleasing. Serve them with crisp, light cookies or after sandwiches as a cooling dessert. One of the quickest and easiest of these delectable frozen

New York—There is less actual skin bared this season, so these fashions have a very important element in them, the effect of aquiline, that is vital in modern summer clothes.

In addition to these sheer silks and cottons, on which lace is the spot, the new dresses that are of made of sheer materials, but to give the look of being transparent is even and the result is a new kind of modesty, a new kind of modesty.

Women seem entirely happy to be in the practice of wearing transparent dresses, and the result is a new kind of modesty, a new kind of modesty.

So long as designers continue to be creative of originality, to the creation of new patterns all is well. We do like new-looking things. They are very small, rather rich in them. They may not sound new when one reads or even talks about them but they have a pleasantly different look. What is even better we are not sworn to any one sort of design. There are very small, rather rich in them. They may not sound new when one reads or even talks about them but they have a pleasantly different look.

There are so many who just can't wear ruffy things, and who refuse to look as though they were dressing for a baby party, this fashion has wisely permitted the rather stately, long-line dress to remain in vogue.

The waistline is slightly raised as a rule, but it is one of those rules everyone breaks at will and suffers no penalty.

One of the most remarkable features of some of the new dresses are that the arm hole is cut away from the shoulder exposing it. That used to be the usual line but covered shoulders have been the fashion long enough to make the uncovered one seem quite worth talking about.

The English sports coat above in diagonal tweed for fall is belted in leather and fastened with a single wooden button on the yoke line. The straight, slim line, are in direct contrast to the swaggy types promoted in British topcoats all summer.

Home-Making

By ALINE STEIN

Do not cook corn on the cob in salted water, as the salt toughens the outer skin. The best way to season corn is to sprinkle with salt immediately after the water is drained off.

Mint is in the market, and will be all summer. Don't forget to ask for it when planning a party. A spray will float on top of a tall glass of lemonade, imparting a cool look as well as a cool taste. Or crushed mint leaves added to a fruit salad, will give something new in flavor. Branded mint leaves also may be added to a French salad dressing with good results.

No one likes to serve peas as hard as pebbles. Yet the best cooks in the world cannot do anything about it when peas are old. Rough pods usually indicate old peas. Young peas are a clear green. The pods also are green. When discolored, they probably are old and the peas will cook up tough.

AMERICA ADOPTS FRENCH SHOULDERS

Chanel's "Skyscraper" reversed folds which give shoulder height to this wardrobe jacket worn over a black sa' in frock are proving most popular among American women, eager alert for something new.

PROFILES For Today

By TALBOT LAKE

Kemal, Turkey's Warrior President . . . Sir Basil Zaharoff, Mystery Man

GHUZI MUSTAPHA KEMAL, PASHA, President of the Turkish Republic, through his statecraft and a sword rehabilitated Turkey as a dominating power in the Near East and earned the name of the George Washington of modern Turkey. Mustafa Kemal founded his power when he reorganized the disheartened and beaten Turkish army comprised of crippled, ill-fed, ill-armed soldiers, made it strong, led it himself when Turkish Royalists thought he would be crushed, and utterly defeated the Greek expedition into Asia Minor. It was one of the most decisive victories of modern times.

As a result of this victory, Kemal became undisputed boss and he could have made himself Sultan. Instead, he proclaimed that Turkey should be a republic and had himself elected president. He wiped out not only the political Sultanate, but the Mohammedan religious Caliphate. He destroyed the connection of church and state, making Turkey a laic nation. Into the waste basket he tossed the old systems of laws based upon ancient Moslem codes and gave Turkey modern civil code based upon that of Switzerland.

The red fez and the veil went the way of the old. Under penalty of fines, Kemal decreed that Turkish men must wear European headgear. He adopted the modern system of letters instead of the old Turkish alphabet. He shows his contempt of old Moslem customs by appearing at balls in immaculate evening clothes, dancing to jazz music and sipping champagne, although Moslem law is dead against intoxicating drink.

Kemal married the beautiful Latife Hanoum in 1923, the daughter of an immensely wealthy merchant of Smyrna. The marriage is said to have brought him a dowry of 1,000,000 Turkish lire. Two years later he shocked his subjects by announcing he had divorced her. No official reasons were given for this divorce. The couple seemed most happy and both were keenly interested in the progress and advancement of Turkish women. However, it was said that Kemal objected to his young wife's interference in matters "outside her sphere."

But Latife was a woman of spirit. After her separation from Kemal she said: "I am not like the rest of our Turkish women who say, 'Allah is great, and His will must be done,' and who resign themselves to their fate, declaring their hearts have been broken. The days when women died of broken hearts have long since passed, and I will show those who intrigued against me that it takes more than a mere divorce to break the spirit of a woman such as I."

AMONG THE world's half dozen wealthiest individuals and one of Europe's "mystery" men is Sir Basil Zaharoff. The mystery surrounding the man is best explained in the question: "Who is he and from where did he rise?" For half a century, Sir Basil pulled the strings that maneuvered dozens of puppet armies behind the scenes of most of Europe's political dramas since the Franco-Prussian war of 1870. He is credited with having piled up the greatest individual fortune that has ever been accumulated in a single generation. Sir Basil financed wars, but made little money out of peace. His money came from banking, munition factories, arsenals and battle ship building yards.

Descended from Greek parents of the colony of Constantinople, whence they were chased by the massacre of 1821, Sir Basil's real name is Zacharias Basileios. His start in life came when he sold a single submarine to Greece many years ago. Since that time, Sir Basil has sold in one single sweep 10,000 machine guns, ten cruisers and destroyers, 4,000,000 rounds of ammunition and 125 cannon, all for credit, the largest single munitions and arms order in history.

After the sale of that first submarine to Greece, Sir Basil sold two more to Turkey and it was then that the American inventor, Hiram Maxim, came into his life and turned his promises of riches into realities. The two men joined their capital, ideas and invention and Sir Basil, acting as salesman, went around the world selling Maxim's machine guns to almost every nation.

Having aided scores of armies to win wars, Sir Basil was duly commended for his service. He holds in all 298 foreign decorations heaped upon him by thirty-one appreciative nations. He is the principal owner of the Monte Carlo Casino, the director of the boards of more than 300 industrial concerns. He is now more than eighty years old, and lives surrounded by servants and personal physicians.

WRITER SCORES MEN WHO PICK WIFE'S CLOTHES

By MARIAN MAYN MARTIN

ANOTHER fallacy that seems to be getting knocked into a cocked hat is that men in general, and husbands in particular, are indifferent to what women wear in general, and their wives in particular, wear.

It might have been true in the olden days, but not today. Men do notice what women wear, which isn't perhaps strange. How could they help it? They can tell you too, what's wrong with the picture. They often have good judgment, if one can overcome their national tendency toward navy blue tailored suits.

EVERY so often a movement to encourage husbands to shop with their wives gets under way. Just recently some New York retailers took the matter under advisement, and here is the reaction of Edward M. Ruttenber, columnist of The Daily News-Record, a paper concerned with commerce and such. Says Mr. Ruttenber:

"WHEN a husband cringes because he does not like his wife's color combination it is time to shoot him. He is developing distemper."

"I have great respect for the mental qualifications of those distinguished gentlemen in the department store field who devoted a busy afternoon recently to discussing man's ignorance of women's wear. But I cannot see what purpose the discussion served or even what purpose it was supposed to serve."

"We do not want men citizens who trail their wives around studying their sartorial possibilities. Leave that to Europeans and hand-kissers generally, who while their manners may be delightful, have a given for defaulting on the dinner check."

"MAN'S place is in the office, where he can make enough money to pay his wife's clothes bill. If he doesn't work he cannot pay them and the lady consequently cannot buy clothes."

"If a woman goes to business and is smart enough to pay for her own clothes she is smart enough to select her own garb. And I do not think she would enjoy having hubby roll over in early morning sleep and tell her how to dress."

"It is just as well that men who support their wives do not know anything about women's clothes. If they realized what they were paying for, there would be a wave of suicides that might devastate the nation's man power beyond repair."

PERSONALLY I have been always felt sorry and somehow embarrassed for the forlorn man who was dragged through the process of selecting a dress or hat, and I have been moved to tears over the plight of the man whose wife insists on going along when he is going through the agonies of replenishing his wardrobe. I do really believe that this is a way of defaulting that might devastate the nation's man power beyond repair."

NATURALLY a woman wants to buy the sort of clothes her husband likes, but unless she is a frightful dumb bell it is not going to take her very long to find out what sort of thing he doesn't like, after which it is fairly easy to proceed from there.

IT IS always enlightening, however, to get other views on a subject and it is particularly gratifying to learn that "a man's place is in the office where he can make enough money to pay his wife's clothes bill." Such devotion should spur any woman on to looking her best.

Hits Below the Belt

Lines leading below the waist are noted in a number of styles which suggest that designers are holding the thought of a lower waistline.

These are usually combined with a belt or a belt effect at normal, the lines or seams suggesting a double waistline or an additional line which seems to accent the hips rather than the normal indentation above.

In these last seasons the waist has been comfortably adjusting itself in daytime clothes to an easy and natural line although in some evening fashions the higher or empire cut has been retained by those who have had most success with it, and who still term it an ideal evening silhouette.

REFUSAL TO TALK JAILS 2 FILIPINOS

must be a pretty strong force applied somewhere.

"It looks like these witnesses are employing attorneys in an attempt to evade testimony in this court."

Turning to Pierce, Judge Johnston said:

"You are bordering on contempt, yourself, if you are refusing these witnesses subpoenaed by the state to refuse to testify."

"I summoned them, too," replied Pierce.

"That doesn't matter," Judge Johnston said.

Refuses to Answer

Despite Santol's refusal to answer questions, District Attorney Hoy attempted to lead him through a recitation of testimony he allegedly gave the grand jury. At that time he assertedly testified that he had seen two of the three women defendants lead Mrs. Navarro to the grave.

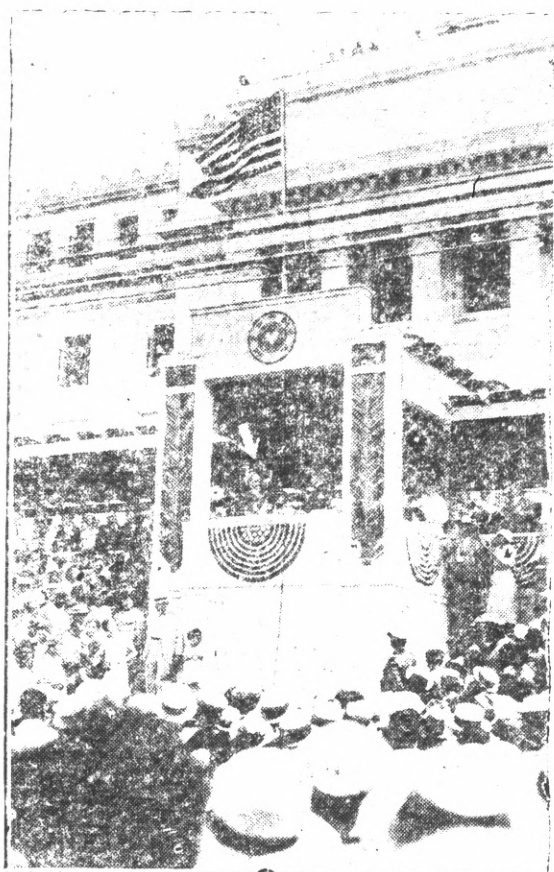

The state's case was attacked when Mrs. Leon in Gabio, secretary of the cult, testified that Pablo Bustamante, police informer and chief state witness, had choked Mrs. Navarro into unconsciousness in the bathroom after she had been found guilty of infidelity.

Cruelly Charged

Mrs. Alberta Asis, one of the defendants, sentenced the woman to kneel on being Mrs. Gabio testified. She said Bustamante, officer of the lodge, took punishment into his own hands and choked Mrs. Navarro after being a handkerchief over her face.

"I don't know whether she was dead or not, but she was unconscious," Mrs. Gabio said. "Bustamante had a gun and he made everyone there sign a blank paper. He said that if anyone told

O'Connell Kidnaping Unsettled

Confidence in the case is shaken by surprise of the new list.
May B. Near by

There is considerable doubt as to whether the kidnaping of young O'Connell was a political act, as was claimed by the state, or a mere act of violence, as was claimed by the defense.

Army Buys 301 Ambulances

Two views of the type of Ford ambulance recently delivered to the Army.

The far reaching effects of the Administration's vast public works and reforestation program were felt here recently when the Ford Motor Company delivered 301 eight-cylinder Ford ambulances to the United States Army for use in Forest Service Camps throughout the country.

The interior equipment of these ambulances is a development of the Medical Department Equipment Laboratory at Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania. In the new ambulance

Rolph Opposes Foreclosure of Mortgage Sales

SACRAMENTO, July 11—UP.

Protest by 2000 Sonoma county farmers against a mortgage foreclosure sale next Friday of the James L. Case ranch at Fort Ross caused Governor Rolph today to urge leniency in such foreclosures.

Meanwhile, at Berkeley, J. Still Wilson, socialist and leading speaker at a mass meeting of farmers at the Case ranch Sunday, vigorously denied that any of the farmers or speakers had urged violence to prevent the sale on the courthouse steps at Santa Rosa.

"I sincerely hope the holder of this mortgage will carry Mr. Case until better times," said Governor Rolph. "He who gains time gains everything." Mortgage holders who are lenient now will gain later."

He said the state has no power to intervene and would not take part in the sale unless violence is attempted. The governor had not received a direct plea from the farmers.

Wilson's statement denying talk of violence said, in part:

"Those farmers have suffered long enough without having their protest meeting utterly misrepresented to the public."

The sales taxers were earning a clear cut decision in the preliminary rounds, impartial observers agreed.

The metropolitan senatorial and assembly delegations were almost solidly behind the sales tax, outnumbering those who vote with the state farmers' income tax plan.

Fred Stewart, member of the board of equalization, and senator Jerrold Sewell added their voices today against an income tax.

Stewart emphasized that an income tax was unthinkable, since most of the revenue would come from lower-rank incomes.

Many legislators advocate passage of a three per cent sales tax that would raise about $80,000,000. The state would continue then with a deficit of $31,000,000.

Invalid Banker Another Victim Of Kidnap Gang

ALTON, Ill., July 11—The kidnapers of August Luer, aged and invalid banker, were the object of an intensive search of five counties north of Alton tonight.

Officers said it was possible the abductors, two men and a woman, were hundreds of miles away by now, but the search was conducted on the theory that the kidnapers may have been forced to stop and obtain aid for Luer, who was suffering from heart disease. No word has been received from them.

Members of Luer's family were gravely anxious about the effect on his health of his captivity and the manhandling he underwent as struggling against the kidnapers, he was hustled from his home here last night and into the waiting automobile.

Through the newspapers they appealed to the kidnapers today to provide the banker with the remedy he had been given with him, 150th grain nitroglycerine tablets.

700 TO START CANNERY WORK

HAYWARD, July 11—Nearly 700 men and women will start work here Thursday or Friday as the Brothers' cannery starts the annual season pack of apricots. Superintendent E. L. Macabee announced today.

Most of the 600 to 700 employees he said, will be women. About 20 persons will be added to the present staff at the cannery when the pack starts, he indicated.

The three-weeks' run on cherries is expected to end tomorrow, Macabee said. This year's pack is about two per cent larger than last year's.

This year's apricot pack, he said, will probably be the same as last year's. When peak season approaches, additional workers will be hired, he declared, and when peach canning season arrives, between 800 and 1000 persons will be employed at the local cannery.

With me... my cigarette is a personal, intimate thing

I suppose, men would call my reason for liking Luckies just a feminine whim. Maybe it is, but it's a whim that I love to indulge... for I am always conscious of the intimate relationship between my cigarette and my lips. And if there's anything I'm sensitive about, it's that feeling of feminine daintiness. Certainly, Luckies Please! I can well understand why men praise Luckies' fine tobacco character and mellow-mildness—but as for me—I value particularly the assurance of purity which "Toasting" brings—for, with me... my cigarette is a personal, intimate thing.
